Cyber Threat

Hunting Services

Merging threat intelligence technology with expert professionals to seek out, detect, and eliminate threats on a proactive basis.

RSI Security successfully constructs threat detection and response capabilities across industries in the private and public sectors. Our cyber threat hunting services merge best-in-class software and technology with our managed detection and response teams.

We'll proactively hunt down malicious actors and activities within your networks before they're able to cause any damage. RSI Security will also provide you with rapid response capabilities to quarantine and eradicate threats as soon as they're spotted. With RSI Security's threat hunting services, we'll put your organization on the offensive.

Benefits of Cyber Threat Hunting

RSI Security's Threat Hunting Services uncover advanced threats hiding within your systems, using proactive techniques carried out by highly qualified and experienced security professionals.

Detection

Locate and isolate attempts to compromise your data, networks, and IT infrastructure. Turn the tables and put cyber attackers on the defensive.

Mitigation

Once a threat is detected, we will mitigate and remediate the incident and prevent significant damage. Threat detection boosts your ability to respond.

Confidence

Proactive threat hunting will improve your organization's confidence in its IT infrastructure by knowing that threats are being actively hunted.

Guidance

Threat hunting isn't just about technology. Our team will provide guidance on how to improve defenses based on the threats we detect and eliminate.

Cost

Eliminate the need to hire more information security specialists or purchase expensive software. RSI Security threat hunting is a budget-friendly solution.

How Threat Hunting Services Work

Our team of information security experts will reveal, identify, and analyze ongoing malicious activities such as:

Active cybersecurity breach events

Advanced persistent threats (APTs)

Cyber crimes and cyber espionage

Potential ransomware and malware

RSI Security will help you spot malicious activities, understand the possible sources of incidents, and plan the most effective remediation actions.

Our team will engage with your organization in some of the following ways:

Intelligence Analysis

RSI Security experts will review and analyze threat intelligence reports and sources to not only detect current threats but determine your level of overall risk relative to your specific threat landscape. We'll help you implement better safeguards based on your unique risk profile.

Network Scanning

We'll conduct in-depth scans of your entire IT ecosystem to unearth potential signs of compromise. Our team will also review your data storage and transmission infrastructure to ensure your networks are well protected via activities like penetration testing.

Incident Response

It's not enough to simply hunt and detect a threat. Every organization needs a plan on how it'll respond and limit the damage. RSI Security will help you create and execute an iron-clad incident response plan so that if and when threats are detected, they're dealt with efficiently.

Continuous Monitoring

A combination of threat hunting technology and our expert team will ensure round-the-clock monitoring and threat detection. We'll also help you customize response plans and workflows so that remediation actions are still taken if a threat is detected during off-hours.

Executive Reporting

Based on the information we gather from threat hunting and detection, our team will generate reports on the health and security of your networks. What doesn't get measured doesn't get managed, and our threat hunting reports will help you identify and manage quantifiable weaknesses.

Ready to Get Started?

Our threat hunting services can help organizations of all shapes and sizes -- in both the private and public sectors -- uncover and eliminate threats well before they can cause massive damage.

Ready to find out how RSI Security Threat Hunting Services can protect your organization in a customized, cost-efficient manner?

Contact one of our experts today to learn how you can get started!

About RSI Security

RSI Security is a full-suite cybersecurity provider and Managed Security Services Provider that has helped enterprise organizations optimize their cyberdefenses for over a decade. We'll help your organization rethink its security with comprehensive managed services and virtual CISO services. Our governance, risk management, and compliance (GRC) programs also minimize business risk and maximize ROI on cybersecurity spend. Connect with us today to get started.